NAB MINISTER AS DYNAMITER DENIAL MADE

Former Chaplain Implicated in Soldier's Confession.

THREE OUTRAGES EXPLAINED

Private Quirk Tells Commandant at Fort Riley That He Blew Up Bridge, Cavalry Stable and Water Mains at Instigation of Rev. Brewer, Who Had Been Dismissed From Service—Convict's Wife Also Accused as Accessory to Crimes.

Junction City, Kan., Dec. 14.—In a confession of Private Quirk, the Rev. Charles M. Brewer, formerly a chaplain in the army, now pastor of a Baptist church at Olustee, Okla., was accused of implication in a mysterious series of explosions which has kept the military authorities at Fort Riley in a state of apprehension nearly six months.

Quirk, in a confession to Colonel Hoyle, commandant at Fort Riley, said that he blew up the bridge across the Kaw river June 24; blew up the cavalry stable June 30, when 27 cavalry horses were killed or burned to death, and also blew up the water main which supplies the army post with water.

Dismissed From Service.

Quirk declares in his confession that he committed these crimes at the instigation of Brewer, who sought revenge because he had been court-martialed and dismissed from the service for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. Quirk also implicated Mrs. Anna Jordan, wife of a convict in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth. Mrs. Jordan was arrested in Kansas City and Brewer, according to information, was arrested at Olustee, Okla. A United States deputy marshal from Wichita, according to the commissioner, has gone to Olustee to bring Rev. Brewer here for arraignment. Friends of the Rev. Mr. Brewer here declare that there is no truth in Quirk's accusations. They say he was not here when Quirk alleges he met the ex-chaplain and Mrs. Jordan in a motorcar on the road between Junction City and Fort Riley.

To Analyze Pancakes.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Pancakes and home-made syrup were given State Dairy and Food Commissioner Brode by Peter Bugh, coroner of Fairfield county, for a chemical test to determine whether they contained poison. The stomach of Ruth Hall of Lancaster, who died as a result of eating the cakes, was also turned over to Mr. Strode's office in the hope of solving the mystery concerning her death.

"High Living" In the Dining Car of the Airship Schwaben

WHILE the aeroplane has lately had almost a monopoly of public attention in this country, in Germany, which honors Count Zeppelin as the pioneer of the air, interest in dirigible balloons is still acute. Only recently a number of Prussian princes and other royal personages made an ascent in the new dirigible Schwaben. Among them were Prince Eitel Friedrich, the Kaiser's second son; Prince and Princess August Wilhelm and Prince George of Greece. As the Schwaben is fitted for carrying passengers—for a handsome fee—it is perhaps natural that it should have a dining compartment, although the appetite of some passengers would probably be too much affected by the novel circumstances of the meal to enable them to get the worth of their money out of the menu.

INSTRUCT OR NOT? THAT IS THE QUESTION

Republicans Will Soon Begin Fight for Delegates.

TAFT WANTS THEM PLEDGED

Men Behind Roosevelt Boom, However, Realize That Such Procedure Will Spell Ruin to Their Plans For Open Fight on Floor of Chicago Convention and Will Seek to Send Free Delegations—Regulars to Force Teddy's Hand.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Whether they are to be instructed or uninstructed is the chief issue in the selection of delegates to the Republican national convention.

Anti-Taft Republicans, and these include the men who are seeking to throw the nomination to Roosevelt, will bend every effort to have as many uninstructed delegations as possible. They realize that their only hope against President Taft is to submit to the fortunes of war when Chicago is reached, and they desire to keep the situation open as far as possible up to the last minute.

President Taft's friends are fully aware of this program and the motive behind it, and will strive for it.

RELATIVES DRIVEN TO INSANITY A SAD CONDITION

Relatives of Mine Explosion Victims in Deplorable Condition.

Bricville, Tenn., Dec. 14.—Insanity has joined with death and destitution to complete the horror of the Cross mountain mine disaster.

A father is standing in the unfilled grave of his son. A mother of four, whose husband is in the mine, is wandering on the road with the youngest baby in her arms asking passersby whether they have seen her George. A sister of a dead man, who is already buried, is crying that her brother is not dead and keeps prepared for him a place at the family table. There is no means of caring for them.

Three miles under Cross mountain mine, Sam Miller, imprisoned miner, and his gang of imprisoned helpers are playing hide-and-seek with death, and 25 government men wearing oxygen helmets are helping Sam and his men win their game, which they will probably lose, unless they are rescued within 34 hours.

HARMON DINES NOTED GUESTS

Exploiters Spend Part of Day in Ohio Capital.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Eight western governors and their party, who are touring the east in the interest of their respective states, were guests of Columbus for a few hours today.

They reached the city at 8:30 this morning, and were immediately taken in autos to the statehouse, where they were greeted by Governor Harmon. At 9 o'clock they were given military escort to Ohio State university, where members of the party made short addresses. The party also spent some time in an inspection of the university grounds. As the party was leaving the campus in autos they were showered with flowers by a bunch of fair coeds, some of whom mounted the running boards and pinned flowers on the lapels of the governors' coats.

BUCKEYE ROADS MAKE BAD SHOWING

Gross Revenues Show Big Decrease for Year.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Figures taken from the annual report of the public service commission, soon to be filed with Governor Harmon, show that Ohio railroads have not had a very good year. They have carried more passengers and fewer tons of freight and suffered a loss from 1910 of nearly $2,500,000 in gross revenue. This decrease was in the face of an increase in passenger revenue of $2,484,000. Decrease in revenue from freight was nearly $5,000,000.

There were 11,665 people killed or injured, an increase of 1,044. The number of passengers killed was 564. Miles of track was increased. The total amount of money represented in the railroads in Ohio is $2,059,903,568, against $1,868,008,655 last year.

Miller Begins His Probe

Government Takes Hand in Unraveling Dynamite Plot.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 14.—District Attorney Charles W. Miller this morning convened the federal grand jury which is to investigate dynamite outrages in this city and state. Among the witnesses is Police Chief Griffin of Kansas City, who will testify as to explosions in that city. Other witnesses from places in which dynamite was used have been summoned, and because of the fact that certain cities have been selected it is believed that the government wishes to show that the explosive used was shipped from this city or carried from here by agents of the iron workers' union.

The government is said to be in possession of a letter sent to Orrie McManigal and containing $75,000, complimenting him on one of the explosions he successfully pulled off. The letter or note, written in lead pencil, conveys the "compliments of . . ." and the grand jury will attempt to find the writer. The note is said to have been written immediately following the explosion, and the money inclosed was the price of the job.

STEAMER HITS ROCKS

Members of English Royal Family Have Close Call.

Gibraltar, Dec. 14.—The Duke and Duchess of Fife and the Princesses Alexandra and Maude were taken from the British steamship Delhi, which went ashore near Cape Trafalgar, by the French steamer Priant. The sea was very heavy and much alarm was felt for the safety of the passengers. The Delhi was bound for Egypt and carried a heavy passenger list, including a number of American tourists.

Akron, O., Dec. 14.—The business section of Warwick was gutted by fire. The loss is roughly estimated at $50,000.

Would Force Passport Issue With Russian Government.

ONLY ONE NEGATIVE VOTE CAST

Sulzer Resolution to Compel Recognition of Americanized Jews Who Return to Native Land Has Easy Sailing in Lower Branch of Congress and Senator Cullom Predicts That Upper Branch Will Take Similar Action in Near Future.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The house of representatives by a vote of 300 to 1 passed the Sulzer resolution, which proposes to abrogate the commercial treaty of 1832 with Russia because of Russia's action in refusing to honor passports issued by the United States government to American Jews. The single negative vote was cast by Representative George W. Malby of New York, a Republican.

Government officials believe that the vote by the house on the Sulzer resolution will bring Russia to a keener realization of the resentment felt in the United States over the treatment accorded by that country to American Jews. The hope is expressed that the action may improve the chances of adjusting the passport trouble through diplomatic channels, as contemplated by President Taft.

That the senate will concur in the Sulzer resolution should Russia continue to refuse to extend uniform treatment to all Americans who desire to travel in that country, is indicated pretty definitely in a statement made by Senator Cullom of Illinois, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. Mr. Cullom announced that he was in complete sympathy with the house resolution, and that unless Russia took affirmative action relieving the situation he believed the measure would be passed by the senate.

LYNCH RE-ELECTED

Has Two-to-One Vote For National League Presidency.

New York, Dec. 14.—With the Boston club in the hands of its new owner, James E. Gaffney, the friends of T. J. Lynch were enabled to re-elect him president of the National league. Mr. Gaffney announced before a ballot was taken that he was strongly in favor of Lynch, whereupon August Herrmann of the Cincinnati club and John Whalen of the New York club proceeded to win over C. W. Murphy of Chicago. The vote stood 6 to 2 in favor of Lynch, Brooklyn and Philadelphia voting for Brown of Louisville.

Colored Nuisance Arrested Gets Workhouse Sentence

Amos Phillips Pleads Guilty to Following and Annoying Prominent Young Ladies of the City—Believed to be Famous "Jack the Prowler" Who Terrorized Citizens.

"I think he's just a 'hitch in'" explained Patrolman Bell to Sheriff Nelson as he landed Amos Phillips, colored, in the county jail late Wednesday evening upon complaint of a number of young ladies of the city who charged him with having annoyed and insulted them upon many occasions.

Phillips, who has been in trouble a number of times and seems to have a mania for following young white women and annoying them in various ways, is 36 years of age, and regarded by the police as being really dangerous to society. He has been a familiar figure among the loafers on the main streets, and recently quit work on the foundation of the new school house because he was paid 17c per hour instead of 20c which he demanded.

The affidavit against Phillips, charging disorderly conduct, was filed Wednesday evening, and Patrolman Bell was dispatched to Phillips boarding place and arrested him. He was thrown in jail for the night, and Thursday morning was taken before Mayor Allen for preliminary hearing.

Phillips at first denied the charges but when shown the extent of the evidence against him, quickly weakened, admitted his guilt and was fined $50 and the costs and ordered committed to the work house until paid.

Upon failure to pay the fine, the proper papers were made out and Officer Haggard conducted the man to the Columbus work house where he will work out the fine.

Upon two previous occasions when Phillips was arrested, charged with gambling, he pleaded guilty and received $50 and the costs in each instance. These fines which were suspended pending good behavior, and have never been paid and are still in force.

A few years ago Phillips was arrested for annoying employees of the mitten factory, and quite a number of young ladies were ready to testify that he had insulted them repeatedly by following, staring at, or addressing them. Many express the belief that Phillips is "Jack the Prowler" who terrorized the city for months some three years ago. The city is now practically clean of such characters as Phillips.

ONE-ARMED GUNNER

Cape Cod Hunter Who Shoots Quickly and Well.

Frederick Higgins Lost His Right Arm by a Hunting Accident but He Can Shoot Just the Same.

Boston, Mass.—Cape Cod has a gunner who knows the ways of the woodcock, the game bird that frequently shifts its home; the tricks of wounded wildfowl who will face death under water rather than meet the hunter above; the migrations north and south of the greater yellowlegs so remarkable for its noise and vigilance; the coming of the sandpipers, the snipes and the plovers. He is Frederick Higgins of Orleans, well known on the Cape as a gunner who does his shooting, decoy setting, boating, and, in fact, everything in his day's doings with one hand. He has but one arm, and that is his left.

Some ten years ago he lost his right arm at the shoulder. The accidental discharge of his gun so shattered the bones that amputation was necessary, but as great as was the loss it in no wise dulled the liking he had for shooting. When he recovered from his severe injury he began practice at one-hand shooting. It was a bit vexing, if not in a measure discouraging at first, but the old love for hunting birds in the uplands and winged game along shore and in the water gave him courage to proceed and conquer the obstacles in his way. And he succeeded.

Mr. Higgins has built a comfortable shooting box on one of the good wildfowl shores of Orleans. He employs in duck shooting decoys of wood, and live birds captured when wounded, and tamed to stay near human habitation.

Nearly all varieties of the duck family fly past his cabin. The black duck, sometimes called the dusky duck, and one of the wildest of the wild fowl family, frequently appears in season. But the black duck is a suspicious, all-the-time alert bird, and not even first-rate live decoys can be depended upon to always coax one or a flock of them within effective shotgun range. Occasionally, though, one or more of the black duck family swims within range of some carefully scouting gunner, and a kill is made.

Other ducks that now and then drop down to look at Mr. Higgins' decoys are the canvas back, mallard and the spoonbill, or shoveler duck, which possesses tender, deliciously flavored meat; the teal, blue-winged and green winged, once in a while appear along shore, but usually they prefer inland waters. The redhead is another duck seen occasionally along the Cape shores. It is a close relation of the canvasback and is usually seen with the latter. They are great divers and remarkably fast swimmers.

Notwithstanding the loss of his arm Mr. Higgins not only shoots quickly and well, but he is also skilled in the management of boats. He owns a fast yacht, which he manages as easily as if he had never encountered accident, and last summer he won several prizes in the yacht races at Pleasant bay, Chatham.

In addition to hunting shore birds and water fowl Mr. Higgins derives a considerable income from the sale of the quahang, the delicious round, hard clam of the Atlantic coast. Some days his diggings return him $5, and occasionally when good clamming conditions prevail he makes more.

Each year with the coming of the open season on shore birds and water fowl Mr. Higgins hits the trail for his shooting box. He places his live decoys and his make-believe ducks and awaits the incoming of southern birds. When the shooting is good he averages from eight to a dozen shore birds a day. These find ready sale, and there is always a market for ducks.

About all of the wild-fowlers and shore bird gunners who quest for sport along the Cape Cod littoral know Mr. Higgins. He is a witty, very entertaining story teller, and he is never at a loss for something worth listening to when a lively contribution to the gaiety of a quiet little gathering of gunners is needed.

Washington C. H. Ranks Fourth O. S. U. Reunion

It is highly gratifying to the very successful management of the Ohio State Day Reunion banquet that out of the large number of rally day meetings held in this state the attendance at Washington C. H. ranked fourth.

Columbus bore off the laurels with 1000 Ohio State men in attendance. At the Cleveland banquet there were 130 present; at Toledo, 80; at Washington C. H., 68; at Cincinnati, 60, and at Dayton, 60.

The small meeting at Cincinnati is attributed to the fact that $2.50 a plate was charged for the banquet.

The meeting at this city being among the largest will insure increased consideration when similar events are held in Fayette county in the future, and there is little doubt but Ohio State will send part of the University Glee club or orchestra to provide entertainment at the next function.

Jury Is Discharged Was Unable to Agree

The Case of Allen vs. Smith Results in No Verdict—Eight Favored Plaintiff and Four Favored Defendant.

After more than nine hours of actual deliberation, the jury in the case of Frank M. Allen vs. T. T. Smith, of Leesburg, for $20,000 damages for injuries sustained when the plaintiff's horse overturned the buggy as a result of becoming frightened at the defendant's automobile a year ago, disagreed and were discharged from further service in the case, and also from further service during the present term of court.

The case went to the jury Wednesday shortly before eleven o'clock, and in the evening at 5:30 the jury was called in by Judge Curtin and asked if they thought a verdict could be decided upon during the evening. All agreed that it was impossible to arrive at a verdict at a reasonable time during the evening, and were dismissed until Thursday morning, when they reassembled for further deliberation.

When called in by Judge Curtin at 11:30 Thursday morning and interrogated, all agreed that no verdict could be decided upon, whereupon they were discharged.

It subsequently developed that upon the first vote as to whose negligence caused the accident, eight were of the opinion that the defendant was the cause, while four held that the defendant was not at fault. Ballot after ballot was taken upon this, but the vote always remained the same. No vote as to what amount of damage should be allowed was taken because one-third of the jury held the defendant was not responsible.

Attorney John Logan, for the plaintiff, stated that another trial would be demanded.

Former Washingtonians Make Notable Gifts To Y. M. C. A.

Recent newspaper comment upon the Y. M. C. A. as a mighty moral force in connection with the liberality of wealthy philanthropists whose notable gifts have made such power possible, give special prominence to our former townsman, Mr. Charles M. Stimson, a most generous donor.

In 1911 Mr. Stimson followed an initial gift of $12,000 to the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. with a gift of $25,000. He launched the successful extension campaign of the Shanghai association in Shanghai, China, with $20,000, and also pledged $30,000 for a building site upon which Miss Helen Gould will erect an international building.

In October, 1911, Mr. Stimson visited our city and pledged $6,000 for Washington C. H.'s Y. M. C. A., the money to be used in the erection of a Trades building and industrial school.

Mr. H. E. Huntington, the owner of the Washington C. H. waterworks plant, has also been a liberal donor to the Los Angeles Y. M. C. A. In 1906 he gave $5,000 and this year a donation of $25,000.

PASSED THE HOUSE.

The Sherwood Service Pension bill about which, under the name of "Dollar-a-Day pension bill" passed the lower house of Congress on Tuesday.

The bill which has just passed the house is fathered by Isaac R. Sherwood, the representative from the Toledo, Ohio, district, and has been his pet ambition ever since he has been a member of Congress, and he is now serving his third term.

General Sherwood is himself an old soldier and has always insisted that the veterans of the Civil war were not paid enough pension money by the federal government. His bill which practically means a dollar a day to the survivors of these wars has been the subject of no end of discussion during the last five or six years all over the nation.

Here in the Seventh Congressional district the fight raged particularly heavy around the Sherwood bill for the reason that General Keifer, the former representative in Congress from this district and himself a veteran of two wars, was accused by General Sherwood with having been hostile to the enactment of the measure. This General Keifer did not wholly deny, but insisted that he was in favor of a liberal service pension bill.

These old warriors, however, have been at swords points on the matter of pension legislation ever since General Sherwood entered Congress. The old soldiers have, as a rule, been favorable to General Sherwood's contention, and the last election especially in several Ohio districts was looked upon as a decided vindication for the contentions of General Sherwood.

The passage of the bill in the house, even though it may be defeated or amended materially in the Senate is a decided victory for General Sherwood, and represents the achievement of a long-sought ambition.

It is calculated that if the bill eventually becomes a law that the pension rolls will be increased $75,000,000 annually. An enormous sum which must be made up either by a decided pruning of expenses in other branches or by an increase in the revenues of the government.

Most people of the nation are in favor of giving the old soldiers a decided increase in pension and that feature having now been partially provided for, it remains only to enact such other legislation as will enable the government to meet the extra expense incurred.

Those representatives, Republicans and Democrats, who voted against the passage of the bill were influenced, no doubt, by financial reasons rather than by a desire not to increase the pension of the veterans.

The government can afford to be generous with the old soldiers and if an increased pension bill, either this one or another one along the same line becomes a law, and the extra expense will decrease more rapidly with each succeeding year, proves heavy, the grateful American people will rise to the occasion without a murmur. There are increases of the public revenue which would meet with a decided opposition among the people, but an increase in the pension bill is not one of them.

"SEAL THE FATE OF TUBERCULOSIS."

With the sale of the Red Cross Christmas Seal in full swing over the entire State of Ohio, every indication points to record-breaking results.

We recently learned from Robert G. Paterson, executive secretary of the State Tuberculosis Society, that there are twenty-five county agents and more than one hundred city agents at work in various parts of the state. He estimates that an army of more than 10,000 individuals are giving some portion of their time to advancing the sale of the seals.

Offers of co-operation are coming from all sides—individuals, firms, newspapers, theaters, hotels, banks,—in fact, that rare spectacle in American life, the co-operation of the people of the entire state, is being put into full effect in this tuberculosis campaign.

We hope the people of our county will be in the van-guard in this great undertaking and that the number of seals disposed of will exceed, proportionately, that of any other county in the state.

BUY YOUR SEALS TODAY!

The movement to stamp out the white plague is one which commands itself to every thinking human being. It is not wholly a philanthropic movement either and that fact should be borne in mind.

Poetry—Today

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED.

When I am wroth with sundry things
And all the world is upside down,
And in my heart are mutterings,
And on my brow there rests a frown,
I seek fair Mollie, and I find
The moment that I reach her side
My anger fades and in my mind
I am completely mollified.

When doubt my spirit weak has filled
And I can't reason where I stand
My faith in things completely killed
By unbelief on every hand,
I seek dear Jennie out, and lo
My unbelief goes with a whizz;
I look into her eyes and know
The truth 'way back to Jennie-sis.

When questions deep enmesh the State,
And men of brains say this and that,
And leave me in a mess so great
I hardly know where I am at,
I run to Polly, and full soon
She cures me of my errant fix,
And I achieve the wondrous boon
Of a clear visioned Polly-tics.

And then when these three maidens dear,
Although they love me, say me nay
And with a heart all full of drear
Send me a-marching on my way,
I seek out Susan, dear, sweet Sue,
And there find all my joys abide,
And leave a world of care and rue
By going in for Sue-icide.

Jewelry Thieves Behind the Bars

Humphrey Oran and Frank Williams, the two men arrested in Chillicothe Tuesday morning for the Circleville jewelry store robbery, proved to be the right men, and a suitcase containing the missing jewelry was located at the B. & O. depot in Chillicothe soon after the men were arrested.

The fellows were caught in the act of trying to dispose of stolen postage stamps. When the suit case was opened and the glittering display of jewelry brought to light, the men could not deny their guilt.

They were immediately returned to Circleville where a penitentiary sentence probably awaits them when their case is tried. The suit case contained 67 watches, 3 silver cases, 3 sets of rosary beads, 1 lady's gold necklace, 1 gent's gold clasp chain, 55 gold watch chains, bracelets and many other articles.

The jewelry was to have been delivered to a place in Dayton where stolen goods are received. The Dayton house will probably be investigated.

Suit Halts Plans On New Building

Suit has been filed by some 20 citizens of Wilmington to enjoin the village council from proceeding further with the plans for the Walker Memorial building, alleging that the proceedings are not conforming to the will of the late Samuel Walker.

How long this will tie up proceedings is not known, but it is thought another set of plans and specifications must be adopted by council. Some of the Wilmington people object to the structure because a goodly part of the first floor of the structure would be a dance hall under the present plans. One large business room is desired. This is one of the objections to the structure as planned.

When the bids for the structure were opened recently, it was found that Parker & Wood of this city were second, their bid being $45,846 while the Ham Construction Company was $45,701. These were the only complete bids. All bids were tabled, as $35,000 was deemed the limit to expend on the building.

PERKINS ON TRUSTS

Morgan's Former Partner Suggests Jail Sentences.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Prison sentences for individuals violating the regulations of a proposed "business court" or controlling commission, were suggested by George W. Perkins, former partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, before the senate interstate commerce committee. Perkins said that the revocation of licenses would not be sufficient and that a "business court," to be effective, should have power to send malefactors to jail.

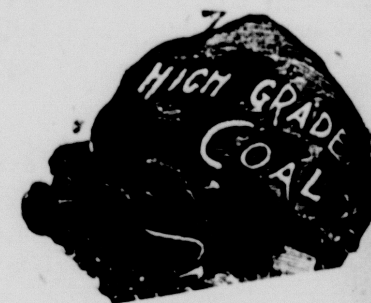

He suggested the "business court" as a means of immediate relief in the solution of the trust problem, and said it should be composed largely of experienced men and be a part of the department of commerce and labor. This body, he said, should have power to license corporations doing an interstate or international business.

The whole family had been murdered, and the police are searching for an Italian farmhand.

Badly Confused

A young minister in southern Ohio decided that the marriage ceremony would be far more impressive if no book were used. So he committed the service to memory, rehearsed before the mirror and waited for his first opportunity. It came in the form of a large church wedding. The bridal party paused before the altar. The throng waited breathless. The great organ ceased playing and in the solemn hush the young clergyman began: "Dearly beloved we are gathered here in the presence of these witnesses to unite this man and woman in the holy bonds of matrimony—and—and—matrimony—and—to unite this man and this woman in the holy bonds of mat-ri-me-ny—and—Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

Famous "Panama Canal" Completed in Full Today

The famous Market street sewer, about which so much has been said because of the many hitches in its construction, was finished Wednesday morning, and it is now complete from the creek to the swimming pool of the Y. M. C. A. building.

The time which has elapsed from beginning of the "panama canal" to the present time has been close to eight months, and the cost reaches between $1600 and $2000. The greatest depth of the sewer is in excess of 17 feet.

Quite a great deal of earth removed from the sewer has been left in the middle of the streets, causing much inconvenience to passing vehicles. This will probably be removed within a short time and the streets placed in something like fair condition once more.

Further work on the Y. M. C. A. building has been suspended for lack of heat, it being impossible to install the heating plant until the place was drained. The plant will be installed about the first of the year and work will then be resumed.

It is thought the structure will be finished by March 1st.

Authority to Sell Church Asked by Trustee Board

The trustees of the African Methodist Episcopal church, of Bloomingburg, have filed a petition in the common pleas court asking for permission to dispose of the church and ground upon which it stands in the village of Bloomingburg.

These trustees, consisting of John Winfield, Drury Casey, Edward Rollin and Chas. Jones, allege that they were duly elected and are the qualified trustees of the church and certain real estate located on the east side of Lincoln street in Bloomingburg. That the church has been condemned by the state fire marshal as unfit for use.

They further allege that it would be for the best interests of the society or denomination to dispose of the property and apply the proceeds to the benefit of the denomination.

As trustees of the church they pray for authority to dispose of the property. J. T. Oatmeal is attorney for the trustees.

Whether the proceeds derived from the sale of the property, if permission is granted to dispose of it, will be devoted toward the construction of another church, is not known. This will leave the colored Methodists of Bloomingburg without a house of worship, unless another is erected, or purchased.

Thief Walks Off With Man's Suit

Ernest Wilson, living in Chillicothe, formerly employed on the Humphrey Jones farm east of this city and familiarly known as "Doc" Wilson, made complaint to the police Wednesday night that some thief had walked off with a new suit of clothes which he had left at one of the pool rooms while waiting for the next train to Chillicothe.

He had deposited the suit and a suit case and umbrella at the pool room while out in the city, and upon his return the suit had disappeared. Suspicion pointed toward a man who was in the pool room when the package was left, and the police are now looking for him.

DEATH OF MRS. GRACE PRIDDY CLARK.

Washington relatives and friends, as well as those of wider circles in the county, were saddened Wednesday evening to learn of the death of Mrs. Grace Priddy Clark, daughter of Mrs. James Priddy, at their home near Greenfield, Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, aged 42 years.

Although her girlhood home had been in the Cochran neighborhood, earlier friendship and associations were largely in this city. For a number of years Mrs. Clark made her home in Los Angeles, Cal. She was called back by the death of her father, Mr. James Priddy during the past year, and remained with her widowed mother.

Mrs. Ralph Penn and Miss Ethel Priddy, of this city, are sisters.

The past two years has brought more than the usual amount of sorrow to the Priddy home and the family has the sincere sympathy of friends all over the county.

The funeral service will be held at the residence Friday at one p. m. (Sun time). Burial in Cochran cemetery.

CHRISTMAS MUSICAL.

Mrs. Alida Merriweather found her annual Christmas recital with her piano pupils, one of exceptional success.

The large rooms were aglow with Christmas cheer, and beautifully garlanded with green and Christmas bells. An unusual number of invited guests enjoyed a delightful program of piano solos and duets and vocal numbers, the pupils all doing excellent work.

Those who took part were: Mary Cullen, Winifred English, Gladys Horney, Gertrude Green, Helen Snapp, Mabel Jones, Olive Hillery, Minnie Willison, Harry Green, Lois Stewart, Margaret Wilson, Lillian English, Margaret Johnson, Thelma Markley, Laura Belle Gorney, Willard Bloomer, Stella Smith, Wayne Bloomer, Mannamay Norris, Grace Fultz, Edward Cullen, Helen Orr, Bernadin Norris.

LIGHTNING KILLS FEW.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but not if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at Blackmer & Tanquary.

Salary Ordinance Vetoed

BY MAYOR OF WASHINGTON

The Chief Executive States His Reasons for Turning Down the Ordinance to Increase Salaries.

On December the 4th at a regular meeting of the City Council an ordinance to increase the salaries of certain officers was passed. The fact was given to the public in The Herald immediately after the action was taken.

The ordinance is as follows:

An ordinance to fix the salaries of certain officers.

Be it ordained by the Council of the city of Washington, State of Ohio.

Section 1. That the salary of the Director of Public Service shall be $400 per annum, payable quarterly.

Section 2. That the salary of the Councilmen shall be $100 per annum, payable semi-annually.

That all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith be repealed and this ordinance shall be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed December 4, 1911.

B. H. MILLIKAN, President of Council.

J. J. FLYNN, Clerk.

Pursuant to provisions of law the ordinance was then submitted to the Mayor for his approval or veto. Had the Mayor refused to take any action at all the ordinance would have become a law of the city without his signature.

Thursday a. m., however, the Mayor exercised his right and vetoed the ordinance and states his reason for so doing in the following language:

Washington C. H., Dec. 12, 1911.

To the Council of the City of Washington, Fayette County, Ohio:

Gentlemen.—It has been no easy task for me, swayed by personal inclinations and preferences on the one hand and a desire to discharge my official duty on the other hand, to arrive at a definite purpose as to what course I should take with reference to the Ordinance to Increase Salaries, passed at your last Council meeting.

I have concluded finally, after laying aside my personal desire to take no action at all in the matter of approving or disapproving said ordinance, to discharge my official duty as I see it.

During the past two years the citizens of Washington have been advised that it was impossible to make certain necessary improvements, such as repairs on the Public Library building, the purchase of a new hose wagon, installing lights and water plugs in the newly annexed territory according to promise made to the citizens of those districts to complete the construction of improved streets, to operate the steam street roller in the work of improving your streets because of lack of money in the treasury and the improbability of being able to realize more than enough under the new tax law than was necessary to meet fixed expenses.

Far more frequently during the past two years than would indicate healthy financial condition, the city has been called upon to borrow money either by bond issue or from local banks in anticipation of a proposed bond issue, and this frequently to meet only the ordinary contingent expenses which might be classified as fixed expenses, so strong was the probability of their arising.

The people of Washington—many of them—have gone without needed public necessities because of lack of money.

The prospect of relief from present conditions under the new tax law which is just now coming into actual operation is not reassuring.

There is no doubt that a chief executive and a City Council working in entire harmony can do much to relieve against the publicity of financial distress and by resort to handy methods of temporary relief do much to conceal the true condition, but that the stubborn fact, that a decrease in the public revenues to a figure below that which insures ability to meet all fixed and incidental charges has already occurred, and that a continuation of that decline is probable for the next year at least, can be removed or softened, is not true.

The condition of the city's finances has been such that it was necessary to issue bonds to make needed improvements on the city of the principal streets of the city, work on a public sewer less than three blocks in length leading to the Y. M. C. A. building was repeatedly halted and dragged out to a length of time which threatened the health of the city and made progress on the work on a building of public benefit and pride almost impossible, all on account of shortage of money and the work of building this sewer could not be completed until arrangements to borrow the money in advance of a special bond issue were made.

Numerous instances where owners of private property have suffered on account of the inability of the city to even undertake the work of public improvements need not be mentioned.

Lack of funds has been the reason given by the present City Council for failure to put in proper street crossings and sidewalks between the C. A. & C. R. R. tracks and Paint creek on Main, Fayette and North streets. Residents of the south side of the city are compelled to wade through mud and water because the city has not the money with which to pay for the construction of these crossings and sidewalks and await the enforcing of the tax against the railroad companies. Street crossings are not put in at the B. & O. depot across Paint street because the city is short of funds. Consequently every passenger alighting from the trains at this station must wade through a sea of mud to get to the sidewalks paid for by the property owners.

The Board of Health has been greatly handicapped in its laudable effort to bring about better sanitary conditions and reduce the death rate, because of lack of funds.

A modern Sanitary Sewer system cannot be constructed because the necessary financial arrangements cannot be made and this in the face of the fact that the condition of the city in the matter of drainage stands condemned by the State Board of Health.

At the time the present County Budget Commission met the city levy was cut to a point which would provide only for actual necessary expenses and to go further at this time in the way of expense would be to plunge the city still further in debt.

In view of these only too well known conditions I could not shut my eyes to a plain official duty.

have concluded that if the city is to incur a greater load of debt it should be on account of some needed improvement and not to meet an arbitrary increase in the salaries of officials who should perform their duties in a city of this size more from patriotic impulses than for the hope of reward.

I therefore veto this ordinance to increase the salaries.

Very respectfully,
RELL G. ALLEN, Mayor.

CHAPTER XIII.

Job and Pollie Bumpus. "I never have told a down-right falsehood," said Lina. "Mother taught me how wicked it is to tell stories. Did you ever tell a fib to your mother, Frances?"

"Tain't no use to try to deceive my mama," was the reply of the other little girl; "she's got such gimlet eyes and ears she can tell with 'em shut if you're fibbing. I gave up hope long ago, so I just go 'long and tell her the plain gospel truth when she asks me, 'cause I know those gimlet eyes and ears of hers 're going to worm it out of me somehow."

"Grown folks pin you down so close sometimes," said Jimmy, "you bound to varicate a little; and I always tell God I'm sorry. I tell my mama the truth 'most all time 'cepting when she asks questions 'bout things ain't none of her business a tall, and she all time want to know 'Who done it?' and if I let on it's me, I know she'll wear out all the slippers and hair-brushes she is paddling my canoe, 'sides switches, so I jus' say 'I do' know, 'm—which all time ain't perfectly the truth. You ever tell Miss Minerva stories, Billy?"

"Aunt Cindy always says, 'twain't no harm 't all to beat 'bout the bush an' try to 'thow folks offer the track 'long as you can, but if it come to the point where you got to tell a out-an'-out fib, she say for me always to tell the truth, an' I jest natchelly do like she say ever sence I's born," replied Billy.

The children swung awhile in silence. Presently Jimmy broke the quiet by remarking:

"Don't you all feel sorry for old Miss Pollie Bumpus? She live all by herself, and she 'bout a million years old, and Doctor Sanford ain't never brung her no chillens 'cause she 'ain't got 'er no husband' to be their papa, and she got a octopus in her head, and she poor as a post and deaf as Job's old turkey-hen."

"Job's old turkey-hen wasn't deaf," retorted Lina primly; "she was very, very poor and thin."

"She was deaf, too," insisted Jimmy, "'cause it's in the Bible. I know all 'bout Job," bragged he.

"I know all 'bout Job, too," chirped Frances.

"Job, nothing!" said Jimmy, with a sneer; "you all time talking 'bout you know all 'bout Job; you 'bout the womanishest little girl they is. Now I know Job 'cause Miss Cecilia 'splained all 'bout him to me. He's in the Bible and he sold his birthmark for a mess of potatoes and—"

"You never can get anything right, Jimmy," interrupted Lina; "that was Esau and it was not his birthmark. It was his birthstone; and he sold his birthstone for a mess of potash."

"Yes," agreed Frances; "he saw Esau kissing Kate and Esau had to sell him his birthstone to keep his mouth shut."

"Mother read me all about Job," continued Lina; "he was afflicted with boils and his wife knit him a Job's comforter to wrap around him, and he—"

"And he sat under a 'tato vine," put in Frances eagerly; "what God grew to keep the sun off o' his boils and—"

"That was Jonah," said Lina, "and it wasn't a potato vine; it was—"

"No, 't wasn't Jonah neither; Jonah is inside of a whale's bel—"

"Frances!"

"Stomach," Frances corrected herself; "and a whale swallow him, and how's he going to sit under a pumpkin vine when he's inside of a whale?"

"It was not a pumpkin vine, it—"

"And I'd jus' like to see a man inside of a whale a-setting under a morning-glory vine."

"The whale vomicked him up," said Jimmy.

"What sorter thing is a octopus like what y'all say is in Miss Pollie Bumpus's head?" asked Billy.

"Tain't a octopus, it's a polypus," explained Frances; "'cause she's named Miss Pollie. It's a something that grows in your nose and has to be named what you's named. She's named Miss Pollie and she's got a polypus."

"I'm mighty glad my mama ain't got no Evapus in her head," was Jimmy's comment. "Ain't you glad, Billy, your Aunt Minerva ain't got no Miss Minerva-pus?"

"I sho' is," fervently replied Miss Minerva's nephew; "she's hard 'nough to manage now like she is."

"I'm awful good to Miss Pollie," said Frances. "I take her something good to eat 'most every day. I took her two pieces of pie this morning; I ate one piece on the way and she gimme the other piece when I got there. I jus' don't believe she could get 'long at all 'thout me to carry her the good things to eat that my mama send her; I takes her pies all the time; she says they're the best smelling pies she smelt."

"You 'bout the piggiest girl they is," said Jimmy, "all time got to eat up a poor old woman's pies. You'll have a Frances-pus in your stomach first thing you know."

"She's got a horn that you talk th'oo," continued the little girl, serenely contemptuous of Jimmy's adverse criticism, "and 'fore I knew how you talk into it, she says to me one day, 'How's your ma?' and stuck that old horn at me; so I put it to my ear, too, and there we set; she got one end of the horn to her ear and I got the other end to my ear; so when I saw this wasn't going to work I took it and blew into it; you-all'd died a-laughing to see the way I did. But now I can talk th'oo it's good's anybody."

"That is an ear trumpet, Frances," said Lina; "it is not a horn."

"Let's play 'Hide the Switch,'" suggested Billy.

"I'm going to hide it first," cried Frances.

"Naw, you ain't," objected Jimmy. "You all time got to hide the switch first. I'm going to hide it first myself."

"No, I'm going to say 'William Com Trimbleton,'" said Frances, "and see who's going to hide it first. Now you-all spraddle out your fingers."

Urge Teddy to Keep Quiet.

Republicans who are urging Colonel Roosevelt to run again believe that the surest way of promoting the Roosevelt boom is for the former president himself to remain silent on the subject. There were indications that Mr. Taft's supporters were also appreciating this fact and that their efforts in the near future will be directed toward putting Colonel Roosevelt in a position where he will be obliged to say something personally on this subject. Mr. Taft's friends are apparently of the opinion that the quickest and most effective way to meet the Roosevelt issue will be to bring the colonel into the open if possible.

Indorsed by Roosevelt.

Boston, Dec. 14.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt indorsed the program of the progressive Republicans of Massachusetts at a conference of the members of the executive committee of the league. The league will open its campaign at Tremont temple Saturday evening, with speeches by Gifford Pinchot, Governor Bass of New Hampshire and ex-Congressman Richard of New Jersey.

Martins Ferry Postmaster Has Adventure In Columbus.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—As the result of an experience in this city, Grant G. Sedgewick, postmaster of Martins Ferry, is confined in a local sanitarium, where he will undergo treatment. Postmaster Sedgewick came to Columbus and was found the next day along the Groveport road, two miles southeast of the city. On the same highway was found a horse and rig, belonging to Warden Jones of the penitentiary, which was taken from in front of Keith's theater the night before. In the rig were papers bearing Mr. Sedgewick's name. He was removed to the city prison and held as a supposed victim of an assault. Friends took him from the prison.

NAB MINISTER AS DYNAMITER DENIAL MADE

Chaplain Implicated in Soldier's Confession.

THREE OUTRAGES EXPLAINED

Quirk Tells Commandant at Fort Riley That He Blew Up Bridge, Cavalry Stable and Water Main at Investigation of Rev. Brewer, Who Had Been Dismissed From Service—Convict's Wife Also Accused as Accessory to Crimes.

Junction City, Kan., Dec. 14.—In a confession of Private Quirk, the Rev. Charles M. Brewer, formerly a chaplain in the army, now pastor of a Baptist church at Olathe, Okla., was accused of implication in a mysterious series of explosions which has kept the military authorities at Fort Riley in a state of apprehension nearly six months.

Quirk, in a confession to Colonel Boyle, commandant at Fort Riley, said that he blew up the bridge across the Kaw river June 24; blew up the cavalry stable June 30, when 27 cavalry horses were killed or burned to death, and also blew up the water main which supplies the army post with water.

Dismissed From Service.

Quirk declares in his confession that he committed these crimes at the instigation of Brewer, who sought revenge because he had been court-martialed and dismissed from the service for conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman.

Quirk also implicated Mrs. Anna Jordan, wife of a convict in the military prison at Fort Leavenworth. Jordan was arrested in Kansas City and Brewer, according to information, was arrested at Olathe, Okla. A United States deputy marshal from Wichita, according to the commandant, has gone to Olathe to bring Rev. Brewer here for arraignment. Friends of the Rev. Mr. Brewer here declare that there is no truth in Quirk's accusations. They say he was not here when Quirk alleged he met the ex-chaplain and Jordan in a motorcar on the road between Junction City and Fort Riley.

To Analyze Pancakes.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Pancakes and home-made syrup were given to the Dairy and Food Commissioner by Peter Hugh, coroner of Fairfield county, for a chemical test to determine whether they contained dynamite. The stomach of Ruth Hall, of Lancaster, who died as a result of eating the cakes, was also turned over to Mr. Strode's office in the hope of solving the mystery concerning her death.

WHILE the aeroplane has lately had almost a monopoly of public attention in this country, in Germany, which honors Count Zeppelin as the pioneer of the air, interest in dirigible balloons is still acute. Only recently a number of Prussian princes and other royal personages made an ascent in the new dirigible Schwaben. Among them were Prince Eitel Friedrich, the kaiser's second son; Prince and Princess August Wilhelm and Prince George of Greece. As the Schwaben is fitted for carrying passengers—for a handsome fee—it is perhaps natural that it should have a dining compartment, although the appetite of some passengers would probably be too much affected by the novel circumstances of the meal to enable them to get the worth of their money out of the menu.

Republicans Will Soon Begin
Fight for Delegates.

TAFT WANTS THEM PLEDGED

Men Behind Roosevelt Boom, However, Realize That Such Procedure Will Spell Ruin to Their Plans For Open Fight on Floor of Chicago Convention and Will Seek to Send Free Delegations—Regulars to Force Teddy's Hand.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Whether they are to be instructed or uninstructed is the chief issue in the selection of delegates to the Republican national convention.

Anti-Taft Republicans, and those include the men who are seeking to throw the nomination to Roosevelt, will bend every effort to have as many uninstructed delegations as possible. They realize that their only hope against President Taft is to submit to the fortunes of war when Chicago is reached, and they desire to keep the situation open as long as possible up to the last minute.

President Taft's friends are fully aware of this program and the men behind it, and will strive for instruction.

HARMON DINES NOTED GUESTS

Exploiters Spend Part of Day in Ohio Capital.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Eight western governors and their party, who are touring the east in the interest of their respective states, were guests of Columbus for a few hours today.

They reached the city at 8:30 this morning, and were immediately taken in autos to the statehouse, where they were greeted by Governor Harmon. At 9 o'clock they were given military escort to Ohio State university, where members of the party made short addresses. The party also spent some time in an inspection of the university grounds. As the party was leaving the campus in autos they were showered with flowers by a bunch of fair coeds, some of whom mounted the running boards and pinned flowers on the lapels of the governors' coats.

After taking luncheon with Governor Harmon the visiting executives left at 1:30 this afternoon for Dayton.

BUCKEYE ROADS MAKE BAD SHOWING

Gross Revenues Show Big Decrease for Year.

Columbus, O., Dec. 14.—Figures taken from the annual report of the public service commission, soon to be filed with Governor Harmon, show that Ohio railroads have not had a very good year. They have carried more passengers and fewer tons of freight and suffered a loss from 1910 of nearly $2,500,000 in gross revenue. This decrease was in the face of an increase in passenger revenue of $2,484,000. Decrease in revenue from freight was nearly $5,000,000.

There were 11,665 people killed or injured, an increase of 1,044. The number of passengers killed was 564.

Miles of track was increased. The total amount of money represented in the railroads in Ohio is $2,059,903,568, against $1,668,008,655 last year.

Miller Begins His Probe

Government Takes Hand in Unraveling
Dynamite Plot.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 14.—District Attorney Charles W. Miller this morning convened the federal grand jury which is to investigate dynamiting outrages in this city and state. Among the witnesses is Police Chief Griffin of Kansas City, who will testify as to explosions in that city. Other witnesses from places in which dynamite was used have been summoned, and because of the fact that certain cities have been selected it is believed that the government wishes to show that the explosive used was shipped from this city or carried from here by agents of the iron workers' union.

The government is said to be in possession of a letter sent to Orville McManigal and containing $75, complimenting him on one of the explosions he successfully pulled off. The letter or note, written in lead pencil, conveys the "compliments of . . ." and the grand jury will attempt to find the writer. The note is said to have been written immediately following the explosion, and the money inclosed was the price of the job.

ONLY ONE NEGATIVE VOTE CAST

Sulzer Resolution to Compel Recognition of Americanized Jews Who Return to Native Land Has Easy Passing in Lower Branch of Congress and Senator Cullom Predicts That Upper Branch Will Take Similar Action in Near Future.

Washington, Dec. 14.—The house of representatives by a vote of 300 to 1 passed the Sulzer resolution, which proposes to abrogate the commercial treaty of 1832 with Russia because of Russia's action in refusing to honor passports issued by the United States government to American Jews. The single negative vote was cast by Representative George W. Malby of New York, a Republican.

Government officials believe that the vote by the house on the Sulzer resolution will bring Russia to a keener realization of the resentment felt in the United States over the treatment accorded by that country to American Jews. The hope is expressed that the action may improve the chances of adjusting the passport trouble through diplomatic channels, as contemplated by President Taft.

That the senate will concur in the Sulzer resolution should Russia continue to refuse to extend uniform treatment to all Americans who desire to travel in that country, is indicated pretty definitely in a statement made by Senator Cullom of Illinois, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations. Mr. Cullom announced that he was in complete sympathy with the house resolution, and that unless Russia took affirmative action relieving the situation he believed the measure would be passed by the senate.

Colored Nuisance Arrested Gets Workhouse Sentence

Amos Phillips Pleads Guilty to Following and Annoying Prominent Young Ladies of the City—Believed to be Famous "Jack the Prowler" Who Terrorized Citizens.

"I think he's just a 'hitch in'" explained Patrolman Bell to Sheriff Nelson as he landed Amos Phillips, colored, in the county jail late Wednesday evening upon complaint of a number of young ladies of the city who charged him with having annoyed and insulted them upon many occasions.

Phillips, who has been in trouble a number of times and seems to have a mania for following young white women and annoying them in various ways, is 36 years of age, and regarded by the police as being really dangerous to society. He has been a familiar figure among the loafers on the main streets, and recently quit work on the foundation of the new school house because he was paid 17c per hour instead of 20c which he demanded.

The affidavit against Phillips, charging disorderly conduct, was filed Wednesday evening, and Patrolman Bell was dispatched to Phillips boarding place and arrested him. He was thrown in jail for the night, and Thursday morning was taken before Mayor Allen for preliminary hearing.

Phillips at first denied the charges but when shown the extent of the evidence against him, quickly weakened, admitted his guilt and was fined $50 and the costs and ordered committed to the work house until paid.

Upon failure to pay the fine, the proper papers were made out and Officer Haggard conducted the man to the Columbus work house where he will work out the fine.

Upon two previous occasions when Phillips was arrested, charged with gambling, he pleaded guilty and received $50 and the costs in each instance. These fines which were suspended pending good behavior, and have never been paid and are still in force.

A few years ago Phillips was arrested for annoying employees of the mitten factory, and quite a number of young ladies were ready to testify that he had insulted them repeatedly by following, staring at, or addressing them. Many express the belief that Phillips is "Jack the Prowler" who terrorized the city for months some three years ago.

The city is now practically clean of such characters as Phillips.

Agreement Reached Salaries Increased

After a series of conferences between the committee representing operators employed by the C. H. & D. and the management of the roads, the award recently made the operators employed by the B. & O. and B. & O. S. W. by the mediators has been arranged. The work of adjusting the award was finished Monday. E. A. Gould, assistant to W. C. Loree, general manager of the C. H. & D., conducted the negotiations on behalf of the management of the road with the committee representing the operators.

The adjustment of the award provides that the operators employed by the C. H. & D. will receive an increase in wages of 5 1/4 per cent. This means that every operator in the employ of the company will receive an increase in salary on an average of $2.21 a month. The operators employed by the company, who are now working twelve hours, under the new agreement, will work eleven hours. The new wage schedule is now in effect.

On the B. & O. S. W. where the operators were given a raise, enough of the operators were laid off, it is claimed to bring the pay roll down to the amount before the "raise".

ONE-ARMED GUNNER

Cape Cod Hunter Who Shoots Quickly and Well.

Frederick Higgins Lost His Right Arm by a Hunting Accident but He Can Shoot Just the Same.

Boston, Mass.—Cape Cod has a gunner who knows the ways of the woodcock, the game bird that frequently shifts its home; the tricks of wounded wildfowl who will face death under water rather than meet the hunter above; the migrations north and south of the greater yellowlegs so remarkable for its noise and vigilance; the coming of the sandpipers, the snipes and the plovers. He is Frederick Higgins of Orleans, well known on the Cape as a gunner who does his shooting, decoy setting, boating, and, in fact, everything in his day's doings with one hand. He has but one arm, and that is his left.

Some ten years ago he lost his right arm at the shoulder. The accidental discharge of his gun so shattered the bones that amputation was necessary, but as great as was the loss it in no wise dulled the liking he had for shooting. When he recovered from his severe injury he began practice at one-hand shooting. It was a bit vexing, if not in a measure discouraging at first, but the old love for hunting birds in the uplands and winged game along shore and in the water gave him courage to proceed and conquer the obstacles in his way. And he succeeded.

Mr. Higgins has built a comfortable shooting box on one of the good wildfowl shores of Orleans. He employs in duck shooting decoys of wood, and live birds captured when wounded, and tamed to stay near human habitation.

Nearly all varieties of the duck family fly past his cabin. The black duck, sometimes called the dusky duck, and one of the wildest of the wild fowl family, frequently appears in season. But the black duck is a suspicious, all-the-time-alert bird, and not even first-rate live decoys can be depended upon to always coax one or a flock of them within effective shotgun range. Occasionally, though, one or more of the black duck family swims within range of some carefully scouting gunner, and a kill is made.

Other ducks that now and then drop down to look at Mr. Higgins' decoys are the canvas back, mallard and the spoonbill, or shoveler duck, which possess tender, deliciously flavored meat; the teal, blue-winged and green winged, once in a while appear along shore, but usually they prefer inland waters. The redhead is another duck seen occasionally along the Cape shores. It is a close relation of the canvasback and is usually seen with the latter. They are great divers and remarkably fast swimmers.

Notwithstanding the loss of his arm Mr. Higgins not only shoots quickly and well, but he is also skilled in the management of boats. He owns a fast yacht, which he manages as easily as if he had never encountered accident, and last summer he won several prizes in the yacht races at Pleasant bay, Chatham.

In addition to hunting shore birds and water fowl Mr. Higgins derives a considerable income from the sale of the quabag, the delicious round, hard clam of the Atlantic coast. Some days his diggings return him $5, and occasionally when good clamming conditions prevail he makes more.

Each year with the coming of the open season on shore birds and water fowl Mr. Higgins hits the trail for his shooting box. He places his live decoys and his make-believe ducks and awaits the incoming of southern birds. When the shooting is good he averages from eight to a dozen shore birds a day. These find ready sale, and there is always a market for ducks.

About all of the wild-fowlers and shore bird gunners who quest for sport along the Cape Cod littoral know Mr. Higgins. He is a witty, very entertaining story teller, and he is never at a loss for something worth listening to when a lively contribution to the gaiety of a quiet little gathering of gunners is needed.

Washington C. H. Ranks Fourth O. S. U. Reunion

It is highly gratifying to the very successful management of the Ohio State Day Reunion banquet that out of the large number of rally day meetings held in this state the attendance at Washington C. H. ranked fourth.

Columbus bore off the laurels with 1000 Ohio State men in attendance. At the Cleveland banquet there were 130 present; at Toledo, 80; at Washington C. H., 68; at Cincinnati, 60, and at Dayton, 60.

The small meeting at Cincinnati is attributed to the fact that $2.50 a plate was charged for the banquet. The meeting at this city being among the largest will insure increased consideration when similar events are held in Fayette county in the future, and there is little doubt but Ohio State will send part of the University Glee club or orchestra to provide entertainment at the next function.

Jury Is Discharged Was Unable to Agree

The Case of Allen vs. Smith Results in No Verdict—Eight Favored Plaintiff and Four Favored Defendant.

After more than nine hours of actual deliberation, the jury in the case of Frank M. Allen vs. T. T. Smith, of Leesburg, for $20,000 damages for injuries sustained when the plaintiff's horse overturned the buggy as a result of becoming frightened at the defendant's automobile a year ago, disagreed and were discharged from further service in the case, and also from further service during the present term of court.

The case went to the jury Wednesday shortly before eleven o'clock, and in the evening at 5:30 the jury was called in by Judge Curtin and asked if they thought a verdict could be decided upon during the evening. All agreed that it was impossible to arrive at a verdict at a reasonable time during the evening, and were dismissed until Thursday morning, when they reassembled for further deliberation.

When called in by Judge Curtin at 11:30 Thursday morning and interrogated, all agreed that no verdict could be decided upon, whereupon they were discharged.

It subsequently developed that upon the first vote as to whose negligence caused the accident, eight were of the opinion that the defendant was the cause, while four held that the defendant was not at fault. Ballot after ballot was taken upon this, but the vote always remained the same. No vote as to what amount of damage should be allowed was taken because one-third of the jury held the defendant was not responsible.

Attorney John Logan, for the plaintiff, asked that another trial would be demanded.

PASSED THE HOUSE.

The Sherwood Service Pension bill about which, under the name of "Dollar-a-Day pension bill" passed the lower house of Congress on Tuesday.

The bill which has just passed the house is fathered by Isaac R. Sherwood, the representative from the Toledo, Ohio, district, and has been his pet ambition ever since he has been a member of Congress, and he is now serving his third term.

General Sherwood is himself an old soldier and has always insisted that the veterans of the Civil war were not paid enough pension money by the federal government. His bill which practically means a dollar a day to the survivors of these wars has been the subject of no end of discussion during the last five or six years all over the nation.

Here in the Seventh Congressional district the fight raged particularly heavy around the Sherwood bill for the reason that General Keifer, the former representative in Congress from this district and himself a veteran of two wars, was accused by General Sherwood with having been hostile to the enactment of the measure. This General Keifer did not wholly deny, but insisted that he was in favor of a liberal service pension bill.

These old warriors, however, have been at swords points on the matter of pension legislation ever since General Sherwood entered Congress. The old soldiers have, as a rule, been favorable to General Sherwood's contention, and the last election especially in several Ohio districts was looked upon as a decided vindication for the contentions of General Sherwood.

The passage of the bill in the house, even though it may be defeated or amended materially in the Senate is a decided victory for General Sherwood, and represents the achievement of a long-sought ambition.

It is calculated that if the bill eventually becomes a law that the pension rolls will be increased $75,000,000 annually. An enormous sum which must be made up either by a decided pruning of expenses in other branches or by an increase in the revenues of the government.

Most people of the nation are in favor of giving the old soldiers a decided increase in pension and that feature having now been partially provided for, it remains only to enact such other legislation as will enable the government to meet the extra expense incurred.

Those representatives, Republicans and Democrats, who voted against the passage of the bill were influenced, no doubt, by financial reasons rather than by a desire not to increase the pension of the veterans.

The government can afford to be generous with the old soldiers and if an increased pension bill, either this one or another one along the same line becomes a law, and the extra expense will decrease more rapidly with each succeeding year, proves heavy, the grateful American people will rise to the occasion without a murmur. There are increases of the public revenue which would meet with a decided opposition among the people, but an increase in the pension bill is not one of them.

"SEAL THE FATE OF TUBERCULOSIS."

With the sale of the Red Cross Christmas Seal in full swing over the entire State of Ohio, every indication points to record-breaking results.

We recently learned from Robert G. Paterson, executive secretary of the State Tuberculosis Society, that there are twenty-five county agents and more than one hundred city agents at work in various parts of the state. He estimates that an army of more than 10,000 individuals are giving some portion of their time to advancing the sale of the seals.

Offers of co-operation are coming from all sides—individuals firms, newspapers, theaters, hotels, banks,—in fact, that rare spectacle in American life, the co-operation of the people of the entire state, is being put into full effect in this tuberculosis campaign.

We hope the people of our county will be in the van-guard in this great undertaking and that the number of seals disposed of will exceed, proportionately, that of any other county in the state.

The movement to stamp out the white plague is one which commends itself to every thinking human being. It is not wholly a philanthropic movement either and that fact should be borne in mind.

FIRST AID TO THE INJURED.

When I am wroth with sundry things
And all the world is upside down,
And in my heart are mutterings,
And on my brow there rests a frown,
I seek fair Mollie, and I find
The moment that I reach her side
My anger fades and in my mind
I am completely mollified.

When doubt my spirit weak has filled
And I can't reason where I stand
My faith in things completely killed
By unbelief on every hand,
I seek dear Jennie out, and lo
My unbelief goes with a whizz;
I look into her eyes and know
The truth 'way back to Jennie sis.

When questions deep enmesh the State,
And men of brains say this and that,
And leave me in a mess so great
I hardly know where I am at,
I run to Polly, and full soon
She cures me of my errant fix,
And I achieve the wondrous boon
Of a clear visioned Polly-tics.

And then when these three maidens dear,
Although they love me, say me nay
And with a heart all full of drear
Send me a-marching on my way,
I seek out Susan, dear, sweet Sue,
And there find all my joys abide,
And leave a world of care and rue
By going in for Sue-icide.

Jewelry Thieves Behind the Bars

Humphrey Orao and Frank Williams, the two men arrested in Chillicothe Tuesday morning for the Circleville jewelry store robbery, proved to be the right men, and a suitcase containing the missing jewelry was located at the B. & O. depot in Chillicothe soon after the men were arrested.

The fellows were caught in the act of trying to dispose of stolen postage stamps. When the suit case was opened and the glittering display of jewelry brought to light, the men could not deny their guilt.

They were immediately returned to Circleville where a penitentiary sentence probably awaits them when their case is tried. The suit case contained 67 watches, 3 silver cases, 3 sets of rosary beads, 1 lady's gold necklace, 1 gent's gold clasp chain, 55 gold watch chains, bracelets and many other articles.

The jewelry was to have been delivered to a place in Dayton where stolen goods are received. The Dayton house will probably be investigated.

Suit Halts Plans On New Building

Suit has been filed by some 20 citizens of Wilmington to enjoin the village council from proceeding further with the plans for the Walker Memorial building, alleging that the proceedings are not conforming to the will of the late Samuel Walker.

How long this will tie up proceedings is not known, but it is thought another set of plans and specifications must be adopted by council. Some of the Wilmington people object to the structure because a goodly part of the first floor of the structure would be a dance hall under the present plans. One large business room is desired. This is one of the objections to the structure as planned.

When the bids for the structure were opened recently, it was found that Parker & Wood of this city were second, their bid being $45,846 while the Ham Construction Company was $45,701. These were the only complete bids. All bids were tabled, as $35,000 was deemed the limit to expend on the building.

PERKINS ON TRUSTS

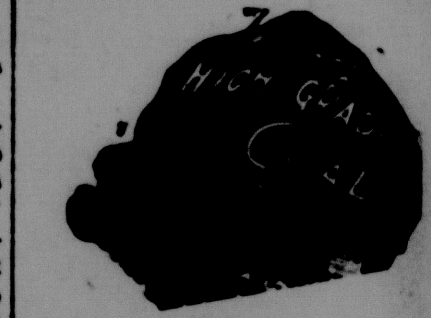

Morgan's Former Partner Suggests Jail Sentences.

Washington, Dec. 14.—Prison sentences for individuals violating the regulations of a proposed "business court" or controlling commission, were suggested by George W. Perkins, former partner of J. Pierpont Morgan, before the senate interstate commerce committee. Perkins said that the revocation of licenses would not be sufficient and that a "business court," to be effective, should have power to send malefactors to jail.

He suggested the "business court" as a means of immediate relief in the solution of the trust problem, and said it should be composed largely of experienced men and be a part of the department of commerce and labor. This body, he said, should have power to license corporations doing an interstate or international business.

Y., Dec. 13.—The naked bodies of Mrs. Conrad Morner, her son Arthur and two daughters, were found hidden under the floor of the barn on their farm near De Freestville, by neighbors who had seen no one about the place since last Monday. The whole family had been murdered, and the police are searching for an Italian farmhand.

Both Phones

Badly Confused

A young minister in southern Ohio decided that the marriage ceremony would be far more impressive if no book were used. So he committed the service to memory, rehearsed before the mirror and waited for his first opportunity. It came in the form of a large church wedding. The bridal party paused before the altar. The throng waited breathless. The great organ ceased playing and in the solemn hush the young clergyman began: "Dearly beloved we are gathered here in the presence of these witnesses to unite this man and woman in the holy bonds of matrimony—and—and—matrimony—and—to unite this man and this woman in the holy bonds of mat-ri-mo-ny—and—Fath-er forgive them for they know not what they do."

Famous "Panama Canal" Completed in Full Today

The famous Market street sewer, about which so much has been said because of the many hitches in its construction, was finished Wednesday morning, and it is now complete from the creek to the swimming pool of the Y. M. C. A. building.

The time which has elapsed from beginning of the "panama canal" to the present time has been close to eight months, and the cost reaches between $1600 and $2000. The greatest depth of the sewer is in excess of 17 feet.

Quite a great deal of earth removed from the sewer has been left in the middle of the streets, causing much inconvenience to passing vehicles. This will probably be removed within a short time and the streets placed in something like fair condition once more.

Further work on the Y. M. C. A. building has been suspended for lack of heat, it being impossible to install the heating plant until the place was drained. The plant will be installed about the first of the year and work will then be resumed.

It is thought the structure will be finished by March 1st.

Authority to Sell Church Asked by Trustee Board

The trustees of the African Methodist Episcopal church, of Bloomingburg, have filed a petition in the common pleas court asking for permission to dispose of the church and ground upon which it stands in the village of Bloomingburg.

These trustees, consisting of John Winfield, Drury Casey, Edward Rollin and Chas. Jones, allege that they were duly elected and are the qualified trustees of the church and certain real estate located on the east side of Lincoln street in Bloomingburg. That the church has been condemned by the state fire marshal as unfit for use.

They further allege that it would be for the best interests of the society or denomination to dispose of the property and apply the proceeds to the benefit of the denomination.

As trustees of the church they pray for authority to dispose of the property. J. T. Oatneal is attorney for the trustees.

Whether the proceeds derived from the sale of the property, if permission is granted to dispose of it, will be devoted toward the construction of another church, is not known. This will leave the colored Methodists of Bloomingburg without a house of worship, unless another is erected, or purchased.

With Man's Suit

Ernest Wilson, living in Chillicothe, formerly employed on the Humphrey Jones farm east of this city and familiarly known as "Doc" Wilson, made complaint to the police Wednesday night that some thief had walked off with a new suit of clothes which he had left at one of the pool rooms while waiting for the next train to Chillicothe.

He had deposited the suit and a suit case and umbrella at the pool room while out in the city, and upon his return the suit had disappeared. Suspicion pointed toward a man who was in the pool room when the package was left, and the police are now looking for him.

DEATH OF MRS.

GRACE PRIDDY CLARK.

Washington relatives and friends, as well as those of wider circles in the county, were saddened Wednesday evening to learn of the death of Mrs. Grace Priddy Clark, daughter of Mrs. James Priddy, at their home near Greenfield, Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock, aged 42 years.

Although her girlhood home had been in the Cochran neighborhood, earlier friendship and associations were largely in this city. For a number of years Mrs. Clark made her home in Los Angeles, Cal. She was called back by the death of her father, Mr. James Priddy during the past year, and remained with her widowed mother.

Mrs. Ralph Penn and Miss Ethel Priddy, of this city, are sisters.

The past two years has brought more than the usual amount of sorrow to the Priddy home and the family has the sincere sympathy of friends all over the county.

The funeral service will be held at the residence Friday at one p. m. (Sun time). Burial in Cochran cemetery.

LIGHTNING KILLS FEW.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madsen, of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at Beckner & Tanquary.

Salary Ordinance Vetoed

BY MAYOR OF WASHINGTON

The Chief Executive States His Reasons for Turning Down the Ordinance to Increase Salaries.

On December the 4th at a regular meeting of the City Council an ordinance to increase the salaries of certain officers was passed. The fact was given to the public in The Herald immediately after the action was taken.

The ordinance is as follows:

An ordinance to fix the salaries of certain officers.

Be it ordained by the Council of the city of Washington, State of Ohio:

Section 1. That the salary of the Director of Public Service shall be $400 per annum, payable quarterly.

Section 2. That the salary of the Councilmen shall be $100 per annum, payable semi-annually.

That all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent herewith be repealed and this ordinance shall be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed December 4, 1911.

B. H. MILLIKAN, President of Council.

J. J. FLYNN, Clerk.

Pursuant to provisions of law the ordinance was then submitted to the Mayor for his approval or veto. Had the Mayor refused to take any action at all the ordinance would have become a law of the city without his signature.

Thursday a. m., however, the Mayor exercised his right and vetoed the ordinance and states his reason for so doing in the following language:

Washington C. H., Dec. 12, 1911.

To the Council of the City of Washington, Fayette County, Ohio:

Gentlemen—It has been no easy task for me, swayed by personal inclinations and preferences on the one hand and a desire to discharge my official duty on the other hand, to arrive at a definite purpose as to what course I should take with reference to the Ordinance to Increase Salaries, passed at your last Council meeting.

I have concluded finally, after laying aside my personal desire to take no action at all in the matter of approving or disapproving said ordinance, to discharge my official duty as I see it.

During the past two years the citizens of Washington have been advised that it was impossible to make certain necessary improvements, such as repairs on the Public Library building, the purchase of a new hose wagon, installing lights and water plugs in the newly annexed territory according to promise made to the citizens of those districts to complete the construction of improved streets, to operate the steam street roller in the work of improving your streets because of lack of money in the treasury and the improbability of being able to realize more than enough under the new tax law than was necessary to meet fixed expenses.

Far more frequently during the past two years than would indicate healthy financial condition, the city has been called upon to borrow money either by bond issue or from local banks in anticipation of a proposed bond issue, and this frequently to meet only the ordinary contingent expenses which might be classified as fixed expenses, so strong was the probability of their arising.

The people of Washington—many of them—have gone without needed public necessities because of lack of money.

The prospect of relief from present conditions under the new tax law which is just now coming into actual operation is not reassuring.

There is no doubt that a chief executive and a City Council working in entire harmony can do much to relieve against the publicity of financial distress and by resort to handy methods of temporary relief do much to conceal the true condition, but that the stubborn fact, that a decrease in the public revenues to a figure below that which insures ability to meet all fixed and incidental charges has already occurred, and that a continuation of that decline is probable for the next year at least, can be removed or softened, is not true.

The condition of the city's finances has been such that it was necessary to issue bonds to make needed improvements on one of the principal streets of the city, work on a public sewer less than three blocks in length leading to the Y. M. C. A. building was repeatedly halted and dragged out to a length of time which threatened the health of the city and made progress on the work on a building of public benefit and pride almost impossible, all on account of shortage of money and the work of building this sewer could not be completed until arrangements to borrow the money in advance of a special bond issue were made.

Numerous instances where owners of private property have suffered on account of the inability of the city to even undertake the work of public improvements need not be mentioned.

Lack of funds has been the reason given by the present City Council for failure to put in proper street crossings and sidewalks between the C. A. & C. R. R. tracks and Paint creek on Main, Fayette and North streets. Residents of the south side of the city are compelled to wade through mud and water because the city has not the money with which to pay for the construction of these crossings and sidewalks and await the enforcing of the tax against the railroad companies. Street crossings are not put in at the B. & O. depot across Paint street because the city is short of funds. Consequently every passenger alighting from the trains at this station must wade through a sea of mud to get to the sidewalks paid for by the property owners.

The Board of Health has been greatly handicapped in its laudable effort to bring about better sanitary conditions and reduce the death rate, because of lack of funds.

A modern Sanitary Sewer system cannot be constructed because the necessary financial arrangements cannot be made and this in the face of the fact that the condition of the city in the matter of drainage stands condemned by the State Board of Health.

At the time the present County Budget Commission met the city levy was cut to a point which would provide only for actual necessary expenses and to go further at this time in the way of expense would be to plunge the city still further in debt.

In view of these only too well known conditions I could not shut my eyes to a plain official duty.

I have concluded that if the city is to incur a greater load of debt it should be on account of some needed improvement and not to meet an arbitrary increase in the salaries of officials who should perform their duties in a city of this size more from patriotic impulses than for the hope of reward.

I therefore veto this ordinance to increase the salaries.

Very respectfully,
RELL G. ALLEN, Mayor.
